REVIEW OF JUNE—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

Important events bulked large during this, the closing month of the half-year. Among those of an international character the foremost unquestionably was the floating in this market and abroad of the German Government International loan, long awaited, for a total of about $345,000,000, together with the complementary step, completed at the end of the month, namely, the entire evacuation of the Rhineland, on June 30, by the French Occupation troops, and which, under the Versailles Treaty of Peace, might have been extended five years longer, or until 1935.

Among the domestic events of chief importance and significance may be mentioned: (1) the signing on June 17 by President Hoover of the Smoot-Hawley Tariff bill, which Congress had had under consideration for a period of almost 15 months, and which provides for higher customs duties on quite a considerable number of articles and commodities; (2) the renewed collapse of the grain markets, and especially the further big break in the price of wheat, in which a new decline of 21c. a bushel occurred during the month in the July option, to the lowest figure reached by this option since 1914-1915, with a concurrent fall in other grains, particularly rye, which dropped to the lowest point reached since 1896; (3) further drastic breaks in other commodities such as sugar and silk, which reached all-time new low levels, and rubber, hides and a long line of other commodities; (4) another big tumble in the market price of cotton, this, like the depreciation in the case of wheat, occurring notwithstanding, and perhaps because of, the measures of relief extended during the last eight or nine months by the Federal Farm Board, in which period this Government agency, through the farm co-operatives, purchased enormous amounts of both wheat and cotton, and engaged in holding these accumulated supplies off the market with the effect that they became a menace overhanging the market; (5) the growing intensity of trade depression in this country, with apparently no prospect of early relief. the sad predicament of the farming classes by reason of the low prices for agricultural products serving to intensify the industrial prostration and militating against an early revival of trade activity; (6) the renewed violent collapse in the stock market, security values vanishing like thin air, even bond prices sharing to some extent in the decline, probably because bonds were thrown over in large volume in order to protect stock holdings, the margins on which were fast being wiped out, necessitating the putting up of additional margins; (7) unprecedented ease in the money market, with a glut of available funds which has seldom, if ever, been equaled in the past, money literally going begging for employment at almost any figure, call loans on the Stock Exchange the latter part of the month dropping to 1½% per annum, the lowest figure touched since August 1917, and open market rates for bankers' acceptances dropping to only 2% bid and 1⅞% asked for bills of 30-, 60- and 90-day maturities, the plethora of loanable funds being the threefold result of trade prostration, which naturally reduced the commercial demand for banking accommodation to a minimum, the loss of confidence in the stability of things which made the business man disinclined to embark upon new adventures or engage in ordinary enterprise until the outlook should become clearer, and finally the shrinkage in brokers' loans as a result of the huge liquidation in the stock market, the New York Stock Exchange's own figures showing a reduction in borrowing by Stock Exchange members during June of over a billion dollars ($1,020,120,623), following $315,299,447 decrease in May, making a contraction for the two months combined of $1,335,420,070; (8) a further drop in the price of silver.

To all this might be added (9) another important event in the action of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in quite unexpectedly on June 19 announcing a reduction in its rediscount rate after the close of business from 3% to 2½%, the lowest figure ever charged since the establishment of the Federal Reserve System, with a concurrent reduction in the Reserve Bank's buying rate for acceptances to a discount basis of only 2% (and even 1⅞%), all this being done with a view to aiding business recovery by supplying unlimited means of bank credit at cheap rates and coming at a time when, as an anomaly, banking credit and banking funds were in superabundant supply and rates for nearly all classes of loans were, as already indicated, at unprecedentedly low levels.

As to the German Government International Loan, for a total of about $345,000,000, the offering in New York and London came on Thursday morning, June 12, while in Paris, Rome, Berlin, Stockholm and Zurich it made its appearance on Friday, June 13, but in Amsterdam it was not offered until the following Tuesday, June 17. Except that the portion allotted to Holland was only partially subscribed for, the loan was everywhere a complete success. The amount offered in this market was $98,250,000, and was made by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., First National Bank, the National City Co., the Guaranty Co. of New York, Bankers' Co. of New York, Chase Securities Corp., and a long and impressive list of other banking and investment houses. The amount offered in Great Britain was £12,000,000. The sum apportioned to France was 2,515,000,000 francs ($98,588,000); to Holland, 73,000,000 guilders ($29,346,000); to Sweden, 110,000,000 kronor ($29,513,000); to Switzerland, 92,000,000 Swiss francs ($17,811,000); to Germany, 36,000,000 reichsmarks ($8,586,000); to Italy, 110,000,000 lire ($5,764,000), and to Belgium 35,000,000 belgas ($4,882,000). By means of the entire loan it is meant to provide, according to the prospectus, "an aggregate effective amount equivalent to approximately $300,000,000." As to the disposition of the proceeds of the loan the prospectus said: "Two-thirds of this loan represents the capitalization of a portion of the unconditional annuities payable by Germany according to the new Young plan, and the proceeds thereof will be paid to the Bank for International Settlements for the account of the creditor Powers concerned." The remaining one-third, or $100,000,000, it was stated, "will be utilized by the German Government to provide for requirements of the German Railway Co. and the German Post Office and telegraphs."

The bonds carried a coupon rate of 5½%, and they become due June 1 1965, but are subject to redemption at 100 through the operation of the sinking fund, and the offering price in this country was at 90 and accrued interest, making the yield to maturity 6.20% per annum. The offering proved an unqualified success, not only in this country, where subscription books were closed promptly at noon on the day of the offering (Thursday), but also in the foreign markets where subscriptions for the loan were invited—Holland alone excepted. The price of issue, it should be stated, was fixed at 90 in all countries except France, where, as the bonds were tax exempt, the price to the public was 98. On June 12, the day of the offering, the bonds sold on the New York Stock Exchange at 91¼, but closed June 30 at 90. On the dissolution of the syndicate the next month (July 3), they sold down to 88⅛.

Objections to the loan had been raised by Congressman McFadden, the Chairman of the Banking and Currency Committee of the House of Representatives, but these objections had been met by Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan & Co. Mr. Lamont's remarks were made before the Academy of Political Science at the Hotel Astor on June 2, in introducing the guest of honor at the Academy's luncheon, Sir Josiah Stamp. So far as concerns the possibility of Germany failing to carry out the terms of the Young Reparations settlement, under which this international loan was floated, Mr. Lamont took pains to point out that "the greatest strength of the Reparations settlement reached at Paris lies in Germany's voluntary acceptance of the obligations arranged under that settlement." To this Mr. Lamont added the following further pregnant remarks: "One could almost say," declared Mr. Lamont, "that not until 1929, 10 years after the Paris Peace Conference which wrote the Versailles Treaty, did all the statesmen of the creditor governments fully realize that one could collect war damages only with the consent of the debtor nation; and Germany, in turn, realized that she had incurred a just debt which with all internal supervision removed and her full liberty of action restored, she was desirous of voluntarily assuming and discharging." Mr. Lamont also laid stress upon another important point when he said: "But what I would wish most to emphasize in the work of the Young Committee is that it was designed to bring final settlement to the whole problem of German reparations which for so many years following the war kept all Europe in a state of unrest, and had unhappy economic repercussions even as far as America. Now at last the statesmen of Europe are justified in saying that strife, be it in the Ruhr or elsewhere, is ended; that the world may now look forward to an orderly and tranquil carrying out of the last of the great post-war operations for reconstruction." The same point made here with so much force by Mr. Lamont was also made by one of the Paris correspondents of the New York "Times," in a cable dispatch to that newspaper, which appeared under date of June 11, announcing that the public offering of the German loan would be made, and which said: "This Young plan loan marks for Europe the end of more than 10 years of disputes and puts an end to reparations as a political problem, placing both reparations and inter-allied debts on a business basis. From now on the handling of these vast sums, which have weighed so much on the imaginations of the various nations, will be almost automatically accomplished, and it is believed this will eliminate the feeling of irritation which has attended past payments."

As already noted, Chairman McFadden of the House Banking and Currency Committee opposed the floating of the loan in this country, and on June 12 introduced in the House a resolution designed to prohibit the purchase of German reparation bonds by National banks, Federal Reserve Banks and member banks of the Federal Reserve System. Mr. McFadden, in an explanatory statement, averred that he was endeavoring to keep the United States and its Federal Reserve banking system out of involvement in reparations payments. He argued that the United States has never participated officially in the reparations conferences and contended that both the Treasury and State Departments had consistently adhered to the principle that this Government would not permit the mixing of German reparations payments with the debts owed to this Government by the Allied Governments. The Young plan provides for the commercialization of $3,250,000,000 worth of German reparation payments during the next 10 years, of which something over $300,000,000 are to be sold annually, Mr. McFadden declared, and he went on to say: "Of this year's allotment $100,000,000 worth are about to be sold in the United States, which means that if these bonds are purchased by American citizens or American financial institutions these citizens or institutions of the United States who purchase these bonds are transferring to American citizens or institutions just that much of the reparation payments due to Allied governments from Germany, and thus involving reparation payments and war debts. It should be plain to anyone that, if by this method a portion of reparations payments are thus transferred to the United States, just to this extent our reparation payments are being mixed with war debts."

In the United States Senate opposition also appeared. On June 16 the Senate adopted a resolution offered by Senator Carter Glass in which reference was made to reports of the informal approval by the State Department of the flotation of a portion of the German reparation bonds in this country and calling upon the Department to advise the Senate under "What authorization of law does the State Department base its right to disapprove or approve investment securities offered for sale in the money markets of the United States by foreign governments, corporations or individuals?" With reference to his resolution, Mr. Glass made the following observation: "For the last two years it has been exceedingly difficult for States, for subdivisions of States, for anybody to float loans on the American market. The stock market has been stupefied for that length of time, and yet here the State Department assumes the right to approve of a foreign loan which goes into the money market with the approval of the United States Government and must compete with domestic loans that have not that approval."

In a statement made before the House Committee on Banking and Currency on June 25, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon presented his views on the resolution of Representative McFadden designed to prohibit the purchase of German reparation bonds by National banks, Federal Reserve Banks and member banks of the Federal Reserve System, Secretary Mellon pointed out that, as Federal Reserve Banks under existing law "have no authority to purchase bonds of this character," the resolution is meaningless in so far as they are concerned. He likewise stated that National banks "are limited to buying marketable obligations in the form of bonds, notes and (or) debentures" and that "the securities which may be purchased by State member banks are, of course, governed by State law." Mr. Mellon declared that "there is, in my opinion, no more reason for Congress to say that a National bank should not purchase a reparation bond than to say that it should not purchase a specific railroad or industrial bond. To do so would place our Government directly in the banks' management. It is unsound and unnecessary." He added that for the reasons he cited he is "very definitely of the opinion that that is no occasion for the adoption of this resolution and that it would be against public policy to do so." Secretary Mellon took occasion to state that "the United States Government is not a party to the Young plan. Neither in the past has it been, nor will it in the future, be responsible for the collection or distribution of reparation payments." In conclusion, he said: "I may add for the sake of accuracy that I know of no provision providing for the annual sale of German reparation bonds in the United States."

In a communication to the Senate on June 20, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson responded to the resolution offered by Senator Carter Glass and adopted by the Senate on June 16 questioning the right of the State Department to approve the German Government International Loan and asking for its authority in passing upon foreign loans generally. Secretary Stimson was asked to cite the authorization, constitutional or statutory, expressed or implied, upon which the Department based its right to approve or disapprove offerings. A report was promptly prepared by Mr. Stimson and it was transmitted to the Senate June 20 through President Hoover. While defending the practice, Mr. Stimson admitted that "save in a small number of countries where we have special obligations arising out of treaties, there is no authorization of law, constitutional or statutory, so far as the Department is aware, which gives the State Department the right to approve or disapprove investment securities offered for sale in the United States by foreign governments, corporations or individuals." The power thus exercised, he continued, "will be found in Article 2 of the Constitution vesting the executive power in the President and in the statutory provision that the Secretary of State shall perform such duties as shall from time to time be enjoined on or entrusted to him by the President relative to matters respecting foreign affairs." Secretary Stimson stated further that the practice has enabled the State Department to maintain a position of watchfulness in the country's interest in its foreign relations. At no time, however, has objection been interposed to foreign loans in our market, save in a very small number of cases, he added. "In this practice the State Department has usually been the spokesman for considerations advanced by other executive departments as well as its own," the Secretary said. "Thus, through the State Department, the Government has in the past carried out the policy recommended by the World War Foreign Debts Commission of objections to loans to nations which had not funded their national indebtedness to the United States. At other times loans to foreign monopolies or cartels have been discouraged." Mr. Stimson denied that the State Department had "claimed or exercised" the "right to approve or disapprove" foreign offerings as implied in the Senate resolution. "The Department approaches no closer to any expression of approval of loans than to say that it interposes no objection to the loan or is not interested in it," the Secretary said. In the particular case of the flotation of the German annuities bonds, Mr. Stimson said that the usual practice was followed.

On June 25 Senator Carter Glass introduced in the Senate a resolution expressing it as the sense of the Senate that the State Department "having no legal sanction for the action mentioned in Senate resolution 293 with respect to investment securities offered in the money markets of the United States by foreign governments, corporations or individuals, should desist from the dangerous practice of involving the United States Government in any responsibility of whatever nature, either by approval or disapproval, for foreign investment loans floated in this country; and should refrain from assuming authority over the Federal Reserve Board and banks or officials thereof with respect to matters which, by express authority of law, are confided to them and not to the Department of State."

As to the evacuation of the Rhineland, this was concluded on Monday, June 30, when the last French soldiers departed from the occupied German territory after a progressive evacuation that had extended over the several previous months. Four companies of French infantry comprised the last remnant of the occupation forces which rumbled out of the Mainz railway station in a train of 15 coaches. The French Tricolor was lowered at noon from the Grand Ducal Palace in Mainz which since 1918 had been the French military headquarters. General Guillaumat, commander-in-chief of the former Allied Rhineland Armies, received the flag and after turning over the military headquarters to the German authorities, he also departed. At Wiesbaden, just across the Rhine, the British, French and Belgian colors were lowered from the roof of the headquarters of the Inter-allied Rhineland Commission. Crowds of Germans watched the disappearance of these last emblems of the occupation, but they confined themselves to a few approving shouts and the singing of patriotic songs. The liberated cities were immediately bedecked in the colors of the German Republic, however, and later in the day uniformed police arrived to take over the work of policing the towns. At night bells and whistles and booming guns marked the start of a more general celebration, while all along the historic river bonfires flared. An untoward incident happened the next day, when mobs in the town of Kaiserslautern engaged in reprisals against German leaders of the Rhineland Separatist movement fostered by the French several years ago. Three Separatists were injured and their homes or places of business destroyed.

As stated above, the new tariff bill reached its final stages during the month, and after both Houses had passed the conference report on the measure, which was a result of almost innumerable compromises, received the President's approval on June 17. This ended a very protracted period of tariff legislation. Congress was convened in special session by President Hoover on April 15 of the previous year for the express purpose of enacting a new tariff law, but hearings for the purpose of paving the way for the legislation really began much earlier, namely, on Jan. 7 1929, this being in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives on Dec. 4 1928, providing that the Committee begin hearings on Monday, Jan. 7 1929, "for the purpose of obtaining information necessary for the effective readjustment of the duties on imports, wherever it shall be found necessary that such duties should be readjusted." These hearings before the Committee on Ways and Means continued from Jan. 7 to Feb. 27 1929. On Mar. 4 1929 members of the Committee on Ways and Means, or a majority of them who were members-elect to the new Congress, were authorized to hold hearings, sit as Committee, &c., until meeting of the new Congress. As already stated, the new Congress was convened in extra session on April 15 1929. Rapid progress with the measure was made in the House, and the bill passed that body on May 28 1929, but it was not until nearly 10 months later, namely, on Mar. 24 1930, that it passed the Senate with 1,253 amendments, following which it went to conference. The proceedings at conference were prolonged on account of the differences between the two Houses on a great variety of matters; numerous disagreements were referred back to the two Houses from time to time until June 13 1930 the final conference report on the bill was adopted by the Senate by the narrow vote of 44 to 42. The House accepted the report on Saturday, June 14, by a vote of 222 to 140.

President Hoover, who had sedulously refrained from taking any part in shaping the measure while under consideration by the two Houses of Congress, used his influence when the measure was in the final stages of conference, and then insisted on having certain provisions of the bill—more particularly the flexible provision relating to the determinations of the United States Tariff Commission—made to conform to his views. There had been rumors that the President might veto the bill, but having obtained his objective with reference to the portions of the measure regarding which he felt most immediate concern, he gave prompt notice of his intention to sign the bill in order to remove all doubt on the point. This announcement came late on Sunday night, June 15, being broadcast over the radio in the Sunday night talks given by David Lawrence of the "United States Daily." The President did not formally approve the bill until June 17, and it became operative at midnight on that day, the Act stipulating that "except as otherwise provided, this Act shall take effect on the day following the date of its enactment." But in his statement issued Sunday night, June 15, the President indicated his reasons for accepting the bill, even though it might be far from perfect, and might even contain rates of duties unwarrantedly high. These reasons were mainly his desire to avoid further delay and uncertainty, and the fact that in the President's view the changes made are mainly in the interest of the farmer, which the Republican party in its platform had pledged itself to take in its special care, that "platform promises must not be empty gestures," and that the new basis of the flexible provision offered a ready means for removing inequalities and correcting evils and defects. Some of the salient things said by him regarding the remedial agency of the flexible provision appear in the following excerpts:

> The new flexible provision established the responsibility for revisions upon a reorganized Tariff Commission, composed of members equally of both parties, as a definite rate-making body acting through semi-judicial methods of open hearings and investigation, by which items can be taken up one by one upon direction or upon application of aggrieved parties.
> Recommendations are to be made to the President, he being given authority to promulgate or veto the conclusions of the Commission. Such revision can be accomplished without disturbance to business, as they concern but one item at a time, and the principles laid down assure a protective basis.
> The principle of the protective tariff for the benefit of labor, industry and the farmer is established in the bill by the requirement that the commission shall adjust the rates so as to cover the differences in cost of production at home and abroad—and it is authorized to increase or decrease the duties by 50% to effect this end. The means and methods of ascertaining such differences by the Commission are provided in such fashion as should expedite prompt and effective action if grievances develop.
> When the flexible principle was first written into law in 1922, by tradition and force of habit the old conception of legislative revision was so firmly fixed that the innovation was bound to be used with caution and in a restricted field, even had it not been largely inoperative for other reasons. Now, however, and particularly after the record of the last 15 months, there is a growing and widespread realization that in this highly complicated and intricately organized and rapidly shifting economic world the time has come when a more scientific and business-like method of tariff revision must be devised. Toward this the new flexible provision takes a long step.

The complaints from some foreign countries that these duties have been placed unduly high can be remedied if justified by proper application to the Tariff Commission.

I do not assume the rate structure in this or any other tariff bill is perfect, but I am convinced that the disposal of the whole question is urgent. I believe that the flexible provisions can within reasonable time remedy inequalities; that this provision is a progressive advance and gives great hope of taking the tariff away from politics, lobbying and log-rolling; that the bill gives protection to agriculture for the market of its products, and to several industries in need of such protection for the wage of their labor; that with returning normal conditions our foreign trade will continue to expand.

The new Act increases rates of duties on a whole variety of articles and commodities, and, as a consequence, encountered vehement protests from nearly every leading country in the world, even before it found its place definitely upon the statute book. Reprisals and retaliatory measures are threatened by many countries, and Italy almost immediately increased the duty on automobiles 110 to 120%, the average duty on Ford cars being raised from 7,000 lire ($350) to 16,000 ($800). Canada had prepared for action in advance, knowing what was coming. Higher tariffs on a dozen commodities imported into the Dominion from the United States went into effect automatically on June 18 under countervailing duties adopted with the Canadian budget on May 1. Potatoes, flour, grain, cattle, meats, eggs and butter are among the commodities the Canadian duties on which have been raised or are for the first time being imposed, the principle adopted being that the Canadian tariff shall be as high on an article coming from another country as the rate that that country levies against the same commodity entering from Canada. One bit of news which came almost immediately following the enactment of the new tariff law in this country was rather suggestive of future possibilities. On Tuesday, June 24, announcement came that the price of sole leather in this city had been raised 2c. a pound. On the same day the New York Hide Exchange, in its daily bulletin, reported that "hide futures continued their decline, again registering new lows for the year, closing from 10 to 20 off from the previous close in the active options." In the remaining days of the month hides moved still lower. The difference in the character of the fluctuations as between hides and leather will not escape notice.

The great break in the grain prices was, of course, highly disturbing and was easily the most disquieting event of the whole month, since it so seriously jeopardized the welfare of the farmer. Wheat prices touched new low levels in practically every week of the month. The final result was that the July option for wheat in Chicago as against $1.08⅞ June 2, touched 87¾c. June 25, a decline for the month of June alone of over 21c., and to the lowest figure reached for this option since 1914-15. There was only slight recovery from this extremely low figure, and the close June 30 was at 89c. The decline in wheat naturally pulled down all the other grains, and rye sank to 44c., being the lowest point reached by rye since 1896. It was pointed out in Chicago papers that sawdust was priced aboye rye, or, at all events. the report said that sawdust was selling at 70c. a bag of 40 pounds at Chicago compared with rye at 44c. for a bag of 56 pounds. The July option for rye in Chicago closed June 30 at 45⅝c. At the opening of the month July rye sold at 63¾c. September wheat in Chicago as against $1.11⅞ on June 2 sold down to 91¼c. June 25 with the close June 30 at 93c. July corn in Chicago after advancing from 80⅛c. June 2 to 82⅝c. June 5 touched 73¼c. June 25 with the close June 30 at 73⅜c. September corn in Chicago sold down from 83¼c. June 2 to 72c. June 23, with the close June 30 at 72⅝. Oats fared no less badly, the July option in Chicago dropping from 40⅞c. June 2 to 34¾c. June 30 with the close on that day at 35c. September oats in Chicago fell from 40¾c. June 2 to 36c. June 30. Sugar which has also been the subject of efforts to maintain an artificial level of values went through the same experience in recording new low levels and the New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange on Tuesday June 24 reported that "raw sugar futures again went into new low ground for all time when the July position sold at 1.25c. per lb." On June 30 this sugar option sold at 1.25c. From 1860 to 1930 it is stated the lowest recorded price for raw sugar was 1.56c. Cuban raw sugar for spot delivery which on May 29 sold at 1⅜c. during June fluctuated between 1⅜c. and 1 37/64 with the final sale of the month at 1⅜c. The wholesale price of refined sugar at New York which at the close of May was quoted at 4.70c. per lb. by all the leading refineries was marked down on June 4 to 4.50c. by the different refineries, being the lowest price for refined sugar in this market since Aug. 5, 1914. But on June 17 there was an advance again to 4.60c. with the American Sugar Refining Co. quoting 4.70c., and this figure was later adopted by all, effective July 1. Nor was there any improvement in the price of coffee and the spot price of No. 7 Rio which at one time was quoted at 9¼c. bid and 9½c. asked later dropped to 8¾c. Santos dropped from 10¼@10¾c. to 10@10½c.

There were no special developments to account for the renewed break in the market value of wheat and the further depreciation appeared to result entirely from the fact that the large wheat holdings of the Federal Farm Board and its subsidiaries were hanging over the market and that the new winter wheat crop in this country was now about to come to market in considerable quantities. The June report of the Department of Agriculture at Washington issued on the 10th of the month showed a further deterioration in the condition of the winter wheat crop during the month of May, the condition June 1 being put at 71.7% of normal against 76.7% on May 1 and comparing with the 10-year average on June 1 of 77.2%. The indications pointed to a crop of only 532,469,000 bushels in 1930 as against the actual harvest of 578,336,000 bushels of winter wheat in 1929. The condition of the spring wheat crop in the United States on June 1 of the present year was put at 85.7% of normal, as against 84.8% on June 1, 1929, but comparing with a 10-year average of 86.8%.

The Federal Farm Board tried to quiet apprehensions arising out of its wheat holdings and cotton holdings. George S. Milnor the President of the Grain Stabilization Corporation in a statement made public by the Federal Farm Board on June 26 said that the Corporation had ceased to sell wheat and would not sell in competition with the new crop unless prices rose to the level at which purchases had been made. The Corporation had bought wheat at various prices ranging from $1.25 a bushel downward, it was stated for the Board. It was figured that the visible supply of wheat in this country on June 21 in the present year was 113,000,000 bushels as against 91,000,000 bushels a year ago, showing an increase of 22,000,000 bushels, and Mr. Milnor stated that "the amount of 1929 wheat withdrawn from the market by the Grain Stabilization Corporation is approximately 3 times the amount of that increase, leaving the amount of wheat on the market substantially below last year's figures." On that basis, it was figured, that the Farm Board was holding about 66,000,000 bushels of wheat, though no exact information on that point was forthcoming and some of the estimates on its unsold stocks ran considerably higher. At all events Mr. Milnor stated that "the grain trade need have no apprehension of competition from the wheat held by the Grain Stabilization Corporation during the coming months when farmers will be moving the 1930 crop to market unless in the meantime prices rise to the level at which purchases were made. In no event will this 1929 stabilization wheat be thrown on the market in a way to depress prices."

On June 24 it was stated orally for the Farm Board, according to the "United States Daily," that it was the opinion of Alexander Legge, Chairman of the Farm Board that the low prices for wheat were part of a general decline in commodity prices and must be considered as such and not as a reduction in a single commodity. The Grain Stablization Corporation was holding the wheat which it bought from last year's crop, Mr. Legge said, but no plans had been considered for a stabilization operation with respect to the new crop which was moving to market with increasing rapidity. The Farm Board on June 25 received a telegram from the Governor of Kansas, Clyde M. Reed, asking the Board to authorize the Grain Stabilization Corporation to buy 25,000,000 bushels of wheat to support the falling price, but nothing transpired as to the intentions of the Board with reference to the matter. At the same time Canadian press advices from Winnipeg, Manitoba, June 24 stated that initial payments by the Canadian pool of wheat, barley and rye were to be cut down the next day, the pool central selling agency had announced on that day. The first payments on wheat for the remainder of the 1929 crop, not yet delivered by pool members, would be decreased to 85c. from $1.00; on barley to 30c. from 40c. and on rye to 40c. from 45c. The cut in payments came, it was stated, with the grain market depressed to a position unrecorded in many years. On that day all three wheat futures had closed under $1 "an event with few precedents on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange."

There were fears that the Farm Board would be forced to ask Congress for further appropriations from the authorized $500,000,000 Revolving Fund, but Mr. Legge was quoted in newspaper dispatches on June 23 as saying that the Board had no intention of asking Congress for an additional appropriation before its adjournment. Instead of financing the Grain Corporation with Farm Board funds he indicated that it might draw most of its money from the private banks and through the Intermediate Credit Banks. Emphasizing that co-operative sales agencies can obtain loans through private sources, Mr. Legge was quoted as saying he did not know how long it would be before another appropriation would be required.

Cotton suffered only less severely than wheat, but here more definite news was available as to the size of the Farm Board holdings. It was made plain that the Farm Board through its subsidiaries had acquired at least 1,000,000 bales of cotton. Associated Press advices from New Orleans, June 24, stated that about 1,000,000 bales of cotton, all now in the possession of State co-operative associations would be taken over by the Cotton Stabilization Corporation, according to E. F. Creekmore President of the Corporation.

The announcement had been made, it was stated, upon his arrival in New Orleans for the establishment of the American Cotton co-operative headquarters. Mr. Creekmore was quoted as saying that the Cotton Stabilization Corp. which operates under the direction of the Federal Farm Board would take over the cotton now held by the various State group marketing bodies for the purpose of clearing the way for the new crop. He declared that with the new crop beginning to come on the market in Texas, the Government cooperatives were ready to provide such financing as might be required by the Stabilization Corporation. Notwithstanding all this, the market price of cotton continued to move downward, though there was some slight recovery the latter part of the month. Middling upland spot cotton in this market on June 24 was down to 13.25c. as against 16.30c. at the end of May with the closing price June 30 at 13.55c. Accounts regarding cotton goods and the dry goods market generally were rather discouraging, the setback in trade, with the new afflictions of the agricultural classes, being of course responsible for this. Rigid curtailment of production of goods was practiced, without, however, doing much to improve the situation. The Census figures, issued June 14 showed that only 473,917 bales of lint cotton and 68,779 bales of linters had been consumed in the United States during May, 1930, as against 668,650 bales of lint and 79,911 bales of linters in May, 1929. The statistics, made public on June 10 by the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants in New York, covering a period of five weeks, showed that the production for these five weeks of May had amounted to 275,801,000 yards, that while the shipments had been 270,056,000 yards, or 97.9% of production, the sales had been only 184,473,000 yards, or 66.9% of production, that the unfilled orders May 31 were only 271,745,000 yards against 357,328,000 yards May 1, and that stocks on hand May 31 stood at 450,481,000 yards, against 444,736,000 yards on May 1. It was pointed out that since January, 1928, these reports had been received from substantially the same groups of mills and are comparable. The peak production during this period was at the rate of 75,081,000 yards per week, and the average was 67,765,000 yards per week. The rate of production during May, 1930, was the lowest recorded during the 29 months preceding, being 26.5% less than the peak and 18.6% less than the average. From New Bedford came advices June 16 stating that the most radical curtailment movement definitely undertaken in recent years in the cotton manufacturing industry was now under way and mills throughout New England and all over the South had already announced either complete shut-downs for definite periods or a very much reduced scale of operations. There was every indication, it was stated, that the months of June, July and August would see less cotton goods turned out by American mills than any similar period in more than 10 years. Definitely aimed to accomplish a curtailment of at least 33% from the normal during the period from June 1 to Dec. 31, 1930, the movement was likely to bring about much more radical shortening of production during the summer months—the between-seasons period. Print cloths at Fall River for 64x60 28 in. were marked down June 18 from 4½c. to 4⅜c. and further reduced June 19 to 4¼c. There were reports that owing to the continued weakness in the market for raw cotton, together with the acute lapse in buying interest, gray goods 38½ in. 64x60 constructions had changed hands in small lots at the low price of 5c. per yard. It was figured that the actual cost of production of the cloth calculated on the basis of the price of raw cotton on the same day as the sale was 12% above the selling price.

The woolen goods division of the textile trades was in better shape than any other branch of the industry, owing to the advancing prices of raw wool at the London auction sales, but even here Associated Press advices from Dover-Foxcraft (Me.) June 27 said that officials of the Brown Mill of the American Woolen Company had announced on that day that the mill would close July 10 for an indefinite period and that this would be the first shut down in more than 40 years. It was stated that the mill employed between 275 and 300 persons. The raw silk market became utterly demoralized and new low records of prices were established week after week. As illustrating the extent of the drop in silk futures on the National Raw Silk Exchange, July delivery sold down to $2.92 from a peak of $4.56 in the life of the contract, while August futures which sold at $4.49 earlier in the season, sold June 30 at $2.86 with September at $2.87, as compared with the peak of $4.45, and October at $2.87 as contrasted with a high of $4.27 earlier in the year. It will be noticed that all these prices in their descent broke through $3. In the spot market Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers were quoted June 30 at only $3.10@$3.15 against $3.99@$3.95 May 31; $4.10@$4.15 April 30; $4.50@$4.55 March 31; $4.35@$4.40 Feb. 28; $4.70@$4.75 Jan. 31 and $4.60@$4.65 Dec 31, 1929. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were quoted June 30 at only $2.85@$2.90 against $3.75@$3.80 May 31; $4.10@$4.15 April 30; $4.40@$4.45 March 31; $4.30@$4.35 Feb. 28; $4.60@$4.65 Jan. 31 and $4.60@$4.65 on Dec. 3. Crude rubber also continued its downward course. Ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery June 30 were quoted at only 12¼c. bid and 12⅜c. asked, against 13¾c. bid and 14c. asked May 31; 14@14¼ April 30; 15½@15¾ March 31 and 15¾@15⅞c. Feb. 28.

The steel trade displayed the strongest evidence of the setback in business and industry. The Iron Age in its issue of July 3 reported that steel mill operations were at the lowest rate of the year and that steel ingot production had further declined and for the country at large was down to 60%, with indications owing to the July holidays that it might dip to 50%, at aganst 73% at the end of May. The U. S. Steel Corporation was reported as working at 72% of capacity, as against 80% at the end of May. The "Age" mentioned as favorable features continued heavy pipeline bookings and heavy requirements for structural steel, but said that companies catering to the automobile trade were curtailing. The "Iron Trade Review" of Cleveland under its new name of "Steel," said that automotive demand for steel was at the vanishing point, with Ford closing from July 11 to July 28, Chevrolet down to a three-day week and most other makers curtailing. Railroad business on mill books was nil. While structural awards were moderately good, and pipe output excellent, these divisions of the industry merely continued June levels. The "Iron Age" made the composite price of finished steel July 1, 1930, 2.185c. a lb. as against 2.214c. a month before and the composite price of pig iron $17.42 a gross ton as compared with $17.50 a month earlier.

The non-ferrous metals also displayed a continued downward trend. The price of copper in particular showed renewed weakness. After the big drop of 4c. a lb. to 14c. in April and a further drop to 12½c. in May it was supposed that the depth of the decline in that metal had been reached. Not so, however. A further reduction to 11½c. occurred in June, and there were unconfirmed rumors of sales at further fractional concessions. Later, however, after the offerings at 11½c. had been absorbed, there was a return to 12c., these prices relating to copper delivered in Connecticut. At New York Lake copper was reduced from 13⅛c. to 12⅝c. on June 12 and further reduced to 12⅛c. on June 13, which remained the price the rest of the month. Electrolytic copper at New York was marked down on June 11 from 12¾c. to 12½c. was further reduced to 12¼c. June 12 and cut to 11¾c. June 13, dropped to 11½c. June 17 and lowered to 11¼c. June 18, but moved back to 11¾c. June 19, and remained unchanged at that figure the rest of the month. Lead at New York was marked down on June 17 from 5.50c. to 5.40c. and was further reduced to 5.25c. June 23. Tin fluctuated in the usual erratic fashion, with the tendency of prices in the main, lower, however, the price June 13 being down to 29.50c., but with the close June 30 at 30⅛c. World-wide restriction of tin output, including a two months cessation of production in all important fields, appeared imminent as the Billiton Co., leading Dutch colonial producer, announced its acceptance on June 25 of a two months production holiday and a program of 20% restriction. The announcement was made in an official statement of the Tin Producers' Association in London, following an international conference in Paris, at which all important producers interests were represented. Effective June 26, the Aluminum Co. of America reduced the price of aluminum ingots from 24.3c. per lb. to 23.3c. This was said to be the first price change in aluminum since December, 1927. In the case of petroleum and its products, the continued heavy production of Pennsylvania crude oil led to further reductions in the posted prices of Pennsylvania grades of oil. The change in gasoline prices were not important. The production of crude oil for the entire country varied somewhat from week to week, but not very appreciably, the average daily production in the week ending May 31 having been 2,609,450 barrels a day; in the week ending June 7, 2,588,050 barrels per day; in the week ending June 14, 2,571,500 barrels per day; in the week ending June 21, 2,598,850 barrels per day and in the week ending June 28, 2,610,950 barrels per day. The different price changes during the month are shown in the following.

June 9.—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey announces reduction of 1½c. per gallon in 41-43 water white kerosene, tank cars at refinery, making new price 7¼c. gallon, effective as of Saturday, June 7.

June 17.—South Penn Oil Co. posts new prices for Pennsylvania grades, showing reductions of from 5c. to 19c. per barrel, in oil in the lines of the National Transit Co., Southwest Pennsylvania Pipe Line Co., Eureka Pipe Line Co., and Buckeye Pipe Line Co.

June 17.—Bradford Transit Co. reduces Bradford, Pa. crude 5c. per barrel to $2.25 per barrel.

June 26.—Ohio Oil Co. reduced Lima and Indiana crudes 15 cents per barrel and Wooster crude 10 cents per barrel.

THE JUNE FINANCING OF THE UNITED STATES TREASURY.

The June financing of the United States Treasury consisted of the offering on June 7 of $400,000,000, "or thereabouts," of Treasury certificates of indebtedness running for a year (they being dated June 16 1930 and maturing June 15 1931) and bearing interest at only 2⅞%, the lowest coupon rate in any certificate offering since 1924. The offering proved a tremendous success, as it was bound to be with the money market in a state of profound ease and glutted with available funds for which it was difficult to find employment. The offering contained the customary statement that the Treasury would accept in payment for the new certificates Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing June 16 1930, and that in making allotments such tenders would receive preference over the others, but this time a limit was fixed as to the aggregate amount of old certificates which the Treasury Department would accept. The limitation was not contained in the Treasury circular announcing the offering of new certificates, but was expressed in the statement made by Secretary Mellon in giving out the circular, this statement saying that "subscriptions for which payment is to be tendered in certificates of indebtedness maturing June 16 1930 will be given preferred allotment up to $150,000,000." It was stated at the same time that about $550,000,000 of Treasury certificates of indebtedness and about $95,000,000 in interest payments on the public debt would become due and payable on June 16 1930. The coupon rate in the offering of nine months certificates the previous March was 3¼% and the coupon rate in the certificates maturing June 16 1930 was 4⅞%.

Subscription books for the new certificates which, as already stated, were offered on Saturday, June 7, were closed at the close of business on Monday, June 9. Total subscriptions aggregated $2,398,792,000. Of these subscriptions, about $265,000,000 represented subscriptions for which 4⅞% Treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing June 16 1930 were tendered in payment, of which, however, only $148,938,000 were accepted. The cash subscriptions were scaled down on a graded basis. Secretary Mellon followed the plan pursued at the time of the March offering and accepted subscriptions considerably in excess of the nominal amount of $400,000,000 offered, the allotments altogether aggregating $429,373,000. In March he offered $450,000,000 and allotted $483,841,000.

NEW SECURITY ISSUES AND DIVIDENDS IN JUNE.

Foreign Government and foreign corporate financing in the domestic market during June showed a slight increase over the month of May. This was largely due to the $98,250,000 offering of German Government International 5½% Loan 1930, 35-yr. 5½% bonds at 90 and accrued int., to yield 6.20% to maturity. The foreign offerings consisted of the following:

FOREIGN FINANCING.

$98,250,000 "German Government International 5½% Loan 1930."—35-yr. 5½% bonds at 90 and accrued int., to yield 6.20% to maturity, due June 1 1965. This was the American portion of a $345,000,000 issue (to yield approximately $300,000,000), the remainder being floated in Europe. Offered by J. P. Morgan & Co.; Kuhn, Loeb & Co.; First National Bank of New York; the National City Co.; Guaranty Co. of New York; Bankers' Co. of New York; Chase Securities Corp., and a host of other banking and investment houses.

50,000,000 Canadian National Railway 25-yr. 4¼% guar. gold bonds at 99 and int., and due June 15 1955. Offered by a syndicate headed by Chase Securities Corp.; Bancamerica-Blair Corp.; The First National Old Colony Corp.; &c., &c.

15,750,000 Canadian National Railways 4½% equip. trust gold ctfs., series L-1930, at prices to yield from 4.15% to 4.85% according to maturity. Due June 1 1945. (Issued under the Philadelphia plan). By a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Hallgarten & Co.; International Manhattan Co., Inc., &c.

7,500,000 Bell Telephone Co. of Canada 1st mtge. 5% gold bonds, series C at 101½ and int., to yield over 4.90% and due May 1 1960. By Lee, Higginson & Co., the Bank of Montreal and Harris, Forbes & Co.

5,360,000 Kingdom of Norway Municipalities Bank 5% s. f. g. bonds of 1930, priced at 97 and int., to yield about 5.17% and due June 1 1970. The foregoing represents the American half of the $10,720,000 loan. Offered by the International Manhattan Co., Inc.; Lehman Brothers, and W. A. Harriman & Co., Inc.

5,000,000 City of Brisbane, State of Queensland, (Australia) 20-yr. s. f. 6% bonds at 96½ and int., to yield over 6.30%, due June 1 1950. By Lee, Higginson & Co. and the National City Company.

4,000,000 Central German Power Co. of Magdeburg (Mitteldeutsches Kraftwerk Magdeburg Aktiengesellschaft) 4-yr. 6% gold note, due June 1 1934 at 98¼ and int., yielding about 6.50%. By A. G. Becker & Co.; International Manhattan Co., Inc.; and Berliner Handelsgesellschaft of Berlin. A substantial portion of this offering was withdrawn for sale in Holland, in Switzerland and in Germany.

Offerings of domestic securities in June were many and consisted in the main of utility issues. The $60,000,000 offering of Union Gulf Corp. 5% coll. tr. s. f. g. bonds at 99 and int., to yield 5.08% was the feature of the month. Two other offerings of size were the Middle West Utilities Co. $50,000,000 serial convertible gold notes priced to yield from 4.50% to 5.62% according to maturity and the unsold portion of the $118,115,600 issue of Cities Service Co. 5% convertible gold debs. at 100 and int. The month's financing, classified as to the nature of business and size of issue, is shown below, the table including only issues of $5,000,000 and above:

PUBLIC UTILITY FINANCING.

$118,115,600 Cities Service Co. 5% convertible gold debs. at 100 and int., and due June 1 1950. It is understood that over $45,000,000 was subscribed for by over 140,000 people on the recent offering of rights, and that of the balance between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 has been withdrawn from the public offering by members of the original underwriting syndicate, which includes a large number of banks and dealers in various part of the country. Offered by Harris, Forbes & Co.; Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.; Bonbright & Co., Inc.; E. H. Rollins & Sons; A. B. Leach & Co., Inc.; Central-Illinois Co., Inc.; Pearsons-Taft Co. and Henry L. Doherty & Co.

50,000,000 Middle West Utilities Co. serial convertible gold notes; the maturity date, rate and price were as follows:

Amount.	Coupon.	Maturity.	Price.	Yield.
$10,000,000	4½%	June 1 1931	100.00	4.50%
10,000,000	5%	June 1 1932	100.00	5.00%
10,000,000	5%	June 1 1933	98.97	5.37%
10,000,000	5%	June 1 1934	98.23	5.50%
10,000,000	5%	June 1 1935	97.31	5.62%

By a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc.; A. B. Leach & Co., Inc.; E. H. Rollins & Sons; Continental-Illinois Co., &c.

250,000 shs. American & Foreign Power Co., Inc. Additional issue of cumul. $6 pref. stock (no par value) at $98.50 and div., to yield about 6.09%. By Bonbright & Co., Inc.; Dillon, Read & Co.; the National City Co.; White, Weld & Co.; Guaranty Co. of New York; Lee, Higginson & Co.; Chase Securities Corp.; Bankers Co. of New York; the First National Old Colony Corp., and W. C. Langley & Co.

100,000 shs. Electric Power & Light Co. cumul. $6 pref. stock (no par value) at $100.50 per sh. (and div. from July 1) to yield over 5.95%. By Bonbright & Co., Inc.

$9,950,000 Philadelphia Co. 100,000 shs. $6 cumu. preferred stock (no par value) at $99½ and div. per share. By W. C. Langley & Co.; Ladenburg, Thalmann & Co.; A. C. Allyn & Co.; Inc.; Union Trust Co. of Pittsburgh; H. M. Byllesby & Co., Inc.; Harris, Forbes & Co.; Lee, Higginson & Co.; Hayden, Stone & Co. and J. Henry Schroeder Banking Corp.

7,500,000 Central Arizona Light & Power Co. 1st mtge. gold bonds, 5% series at 96¼ and int., due June 1 1960. By The Security-First National Co. of Los Angeles; Harris, Forbes & Co. and E. H. Rollins & Sons.

THE COURSE OF THE STOCK MARKET DURING JUNE 1930.

The stock market in June suffered a renewed violent collapse during which market values were wiped out in perfectly appaling fashion, the downward plunges from day to day being of stupendous proportions and the market on more than one occasion displaying the characteristics of a panic, when men lose all sense and reason. Day after day and week after week cumulative declines of startling dimensions occurred with only feverish intermittent rallies from time to time. The market was overwhelmed by an avalanche of selling, with supporting orders entirely lacking, and with ordinary buying of such meagre character as to indicate an utter lack of confidence in the stability and future of values on the part of men of means. Doubtless also the absence of buying was due to impaired ability to indulge in extensive buying because of the very depreciation in values which was occurring. Day after day new losses of vast size kept piling up on top of previous losses already of alarming character, such as could be viewed only with the utmost consternation and deepest anxiety. From a broad point of view the new break was simply a continuation of the crash which the market experienced in April, after the unrestrained speculative rise in March and preceding months, and which collapse continued its course during the early part of May, but then was arrested and appeared to have reached its end the latter part of May. But the June break was itself of such proportions that it far outran that of April, prodigious though that was, and has as its only parallel the utter destruction of values which occurred the previous October and November.

The occasion for the new collapse was simply the lack of any definite indications of recovery from the depression in trade which the country has been suffering since the stock market crash of the previous autumn, and which in most lines of business indeed has been growing worse rather than better. As it happened, too, the Agricultural situation became steadily more precarious owing to further great depreciation in the market values of wheat and other grains (the price of wheat declining over 20c. more a bushel) and of cotton and a long list of other products and commodities. The tariff legislation in Congress proved a further disturbing influence, both because of the wrangling between the two Houses of Congress and the interminable delay in securing the passage of the Bill and likewise because customs duties have been so generally raised, thereby putting further impediment in the way of foreign trade. In addition the railroads in their monthly returns of earnings were showing perfectly enormous losses in gross and net revenues alike, as compared with the corresponding periods of the preceeding year. In all these respects, moreover, there appeared to be scant chance of any early change for the better. And of course disappointment was all the keener inasmuch as hopes had been so confidently entertained of trade revival by the middle of the year. The fact that the money market was in a state of great ease and interest rates were ruling inordinately low and that the Federal Reserve authorities were doing all in their power to accentuate the ease (the Federal Reserve Bank of New York having on June 19 given notice of a reduction the next day in its rediscount rate from 3% per annum to 2½%, the lowest figure recorded since the establishment of the Federal Reserve system, and the Reserve Bank having also in the absence of borrowing by member banks added to the amount of Reserve credit afloat) counted for nothing since the market was not in need of any stimulant of that kind and was too far gone to respond to the same.

The market opened on Monday, June 2, after a three-day holiday (Friday, May 30, having been Memorial Day) and a holiday and the Stock Exchange having also remained closed on Saturday, May 31st) with price changes rather irregular and with views mixed as to the immediate course of values. This uncertainty was reflected in quiet trading and in a generally dull state of things with a small volume of dealings. Beginning with Thursday, June 5, weakness began to develop and by Saturday, June 7, the market was plunging downward in a most discouraging way, and thereafter the collapse became steadily more pronounced. Dealings at this half-day session on Saturday reached 2,246,270 shares, which was in excess of any full day session in that week with only one exception. From now on the market experienced a succession of bad days with large dealings, the sales on Monday, June 9, reaching 4,646,270 shares; on Tuesday, June 10, 4,773,480 shares and Wednesday, June 11, 4,477,390 shares. Prices now tumbled from day to day in very startling fashion, with only fitful rallies which served merely to steady the market for the time being. There was an upward reaction on Tuesday, June 10, after an almost continuous downward movement since the middle of the previous week. But the recovery was not of lasting character. On June 11 the downward plunge was resumed and it reached such proportions as to furnish occasion for the gravest anxiety. After a further bad break at the opening on Thursday, June 12, the decline was arrested and partial recovery established. On Friday, June 13, after some additional dips in the morning, the improvement was carried somewhat further, though the market fluctuated violently from hour to hour. The market's upturn on the two days mentioned derived its incentive from the success attending the floating in this country and abroad of the German International loan for an aggregate of approximately $345,000,000 and the near approach of the passage of the Tariff Bill in Congress, the Senate giving its approval to the Conference report of the two Houses Friday afternoon, and the House accepting the report the next day, Saturday, June 14.

But all this served only as a momentary pause. The Saturday referred to proved a very quiet day with aggregate transactions for the half-day of only 1,255,710 shares. The following Monday, however, the panic broke out with renewed fury. The sales on that day reached 5,657,320 shares and Tuesday June 17 aggregated 5,018,600 shares and on Wednesday, June 18, mounted to 6,425,630 shares. Selling proceeded at a furious pace and the declines in prices were of startling magnitude, finding their only counterpart in the major collapse of the previous autumn. The losses were especially heavy on Monday, June 16, and Wednesday, June 18, the market then having a very panicky appearance. President Hoover, regarding whose intentions with respect to the Tariff Bill there had been some expressions of doubt, took pains to let it be known on Sunday night, June 15, that he would sign the Bill. Instead of this proving an aid to the market, however, it acted in the reverse manner, the financial community looking upon the bill with disfavor because it raised the tariff barriers still higher. The Stock Exchange now became actually swamped with selling orders, the declines in prices ranging all the way from 3 to 22 points, being the widest extremes since the breakdown the previous November. The commodity markets were equally depressed and cotton, grain and a whole host of other articles reached new low figures for the year and in not a few instances the lowest in all time. No less than 315 stocks on that day touched new low figures for the year, some of them dropping lower even than in the previous autumn. At the close of the day (June 16) the ticker was 48 minutes behind in reporting transactions on the floor of the Exchange. On Tuesday, June 17, the market, after a further break, enjoyed a substantial recovery, though part of the gains were again lost in the closing hour. On Wednesday, June 18, however, the market suffered another violent break of huge proportions, the volume of selling again completely overwhelming the Exchange and with more than 400 stocks touching new low figures for the year. As one illustration Allied Chemical & Dye showed a further net loss for the day of 21½ points. The ticker was one hour and 34 minutes in arrears at the end of the day. On Thursday, June 19, a sharp and general rally that extended all through the list occurred, but the day's transactions reached only 3,762,500 shares. The reception given Rear Admiral Byrd on his return from the South Pole diverted attention to some extent from business on the Stock Exchange, the procession passing along Broadway to the City Hall. On Friday, June 20, the market had another bad spell, notwithstanding the reduction of $211,000,000 in brokers' loans shown in the Reserve statement the previous night. Sales on that day fell to 3,656,470 shares. On Saturday, June 21, the market behaved very badly and over 100 stocks touched new low levels for the year, though aggregate dealings for the half-day reached only 1,966,610 shares. On Monday, June 23, selling was still more furious and no less than 200 stocks dropped to new low levels for the year. The market, however, sharply rallied and most of the early declines were recovered by the close of the day. On Tuesday, June 24, the railroads were under special pressure and suffered severe losses owing to the unfavorable nature of the returns of earnings for the month of May which were then coming in. Atchison showed a net decline for that day of 8¼, New York Central of 6⅜ and Southern Railway of 6½. Both the grain and the cotton markets were again weak. On Wednesday June 25 a new drive was made at the railroad stocks, but a rally occurred in the afternoon in which most of the early losses were recovered. The rest of the month the market gradually steadied itself under the influence of buying by those who had been selling the market short, and good sized rallies were established all through the list. This occurred in face of quite a number of new announcements of dividends reductions by the copper companies. The market was not uniformly higher; certain stocks continued to display weakness and did not share in any substantial degree in the recovery, but the trend was definitely and generally upward.

The aggregate sales for the month on the New York Stock Exchange reached 76,593,250 shares, or the largest on record for any month of June, though of course not approaching the extraordinary record of the previous October when the sales reached 141,668,410 shares, or the largest for any month of any year in Stock Exchange history. In June, 1929 the sales were 69,546,040 shares and in June, 1928, 63,886,100 shares. On the New York Curb Exchange the sales were 28,128,750 shares, as against 44,837,500 shares in June, 1929. The high-priced stocks all through the month were under the severest pressure and the tumble in these reached gigantic proportions. As affording a sort of general idea of the extent of the depreciation which occurred in April, May and June, the New York Times' averages for 50 selected stocks (25 railroads and 25 industrial companies) serve well for the purpose. The averages for the 25 railroads show a decline from 136 March 29 to 105.21 June 25, with the close June 30 at 109.33. This low of 105.21 for the railroads was lower even than the low for the year 1929 reached on Nov. 13 which was 107.92. In the case of the industrial stocks the average for the 25 companies shows a drop from 358.16 April 10 to 253.04 June 25, with the close June 30 at 276.68. In the case of the combined averages for the whole 50 stocks the figures show a drop from 245.60 April 10 to 179.12 June 25, with the close June 30 at 193. However, for many individual stocks much more violent declines appear than in these general averages for selected stocks. Taking as a few instances of extreme fluctuation we may note that the Case Threshing Machine stock dropped from 362¾ April 23 to 156½ June 25, with the close June 30 at 179. The low point for the stock the previous November was 130. Allied Chemical & Dye dropped from 343 April 17 to 232 June 25, with the close June 30 at 271. U. S. Steel fell from 198¾ April 7 to 151⅝ June 25, with the close June 30 at 159⅝. Last November the low point for this stock was 150. Eastman Kodak fell from 255¼ April 25 to 178 June 25, with the close June 30 at 201¾. The previous November this stock sold at 150. American Tel. & Tel. sold down from 274¼ April 14 to 200⅛ June 23, with the close June 30 at 210½. But that is with the rights off, which fell from 22⅝ April 17 to 16 June 18, with the close June 30 at 17⅞. In the break last autumn American Tel. & Tel. fell to 197¼ Nov. 13 before the offering of rights. American Water Works & Electric dropped from 124⅞ April 23 to 78⅛ June 23, with the close June 30 at 87⅞. Anaconda Copper dropped to 44½ June 18 from 81½ April 2, with the close June 30 at 50¼. American & Foreign Power tumbled from 101¾ April 16 to 56¼ June 18, with the close June 30 at 66. American Machine & Foundry plunged from 284¾ April 30 to 180 June 23, with the close June 30 at 203. Westinghouse Elec. & Mfg, fell from 201½ April 15 to 124¼ June 23, with the close June 30 at 139. Among the railroads Atchison dropped from 242½ March 29 to 194 June 25, with the close June 30 at 206. New York Central fell from 192¾ Feb. 14 to 150¾ June 25, with the close June 30 at 156¼. Baltimore & Ohio declined from 122⅜ March 31 to 98¼ June 24, with the close June 30 at 102 and St. Louis-San Francisco fell from 118⅞ March 27 to 86¼ June 30 with the close June 30 at 88¾. These illustrations might be continued almost indefinitely.

The bond market was also reactionary. The convertible issues of course followed the course downward of the stocks into which they are convertible, but the gilt-edged high-grade bonds also suffered moderate declines, this being supposedly due to the fact that many holders of stocks who were carrying their loads on margin found it necessary to dispose of some of their bond issues in order to protect their stock holdings.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING JUNE 1930.

The ease in the money market became still further accentuated. The market, indeed, became glutted with loanable funds to a degree and an extent which has seldom if ever been witnessed in the past. Rates for all classes of loans dropped lower and still lower, in a number of cases establishing new low records in all time, or, where that was not the case, touching the lowest figures reached in a long series of years. Idle funds may be said to have been virtually begging for employment. The complete breakdown of security values on the Stock Exchange, with the liquidation of speculative accounts resulting therefrom, released enormous amounts previously tied up in that way. For the four weeks ending July 2 brokers' loans with the New York City banks rendering weekly returns to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York showed a contraction of $882,000,000, and the New York Stock Exchange's own statement, which always deals with much larger figures, being much more comprehensive in scope, was even more illuminating on that point. This statement, covering the full month of June, registered a reduction in the sum of $1,020,120,623, following a decrease of $315,299,447 in May, thus showing a contraction in borrowing by members of the Stock Exchange of $1,335,420,070 for the two months combined. With the country's industries prostrated as perhaps never before, the mercantile demand for accommodation was necessarily down to a minimum, and the unprecedentedly low figures reached by the rates for bankers' acceptances as well as the low rates charged for commercial paper reflected that fact. As tending still further to produce utter demoralization in the money market the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, after the close of business on Thursday, June 19, to the complete surprise of everyone, further reduced its rediscount rate from 3% to 2½%, the lowest figure in the entire history of the Federal Reserve System. The action was wholly unexpected. There had been suggestions some weeks before that the New York Reserve Bank might further mark down its rate below 3%, but when the step was actually taken virtually no one was looking for anything of the kind. In some quarters the action caused consternation. With the money market congested, as perhaps never before, with available funds arising out of the ordinary bank credit in superabundant supply, it was difficult to see any need for the Reserve Banks to swell still further the volume of loanable funds by their own operations or by adding to the inducements of the member banks to borrow by cheapening still further the cost of borrowing. Though the action failed to persuade the member banks to indulge in new borrowing, the Reserve authorities undertook to attain the same end through their own market operations in the purchase of United States Government securities and bankers' acceptances.

These open market operations proved further disturbing in the fact that in the endeavor to secure a supply of acceptances (as the bills already held matured and were paid off) the Reserve Banks became a competitor for the acceptances in the open market. In the process of competition the Reserve Bank again and again lowered its buying rate for acceptances, until finally the rate was reduced to 2% for 90-day bills and only 1⅞% for short bills. Nor did the move prove effective in obtaining for the Reserve Banks any considerable supplies of acceptances, as appears from the fact that the acceptance holdings of the 12 Reserve Banks steadily declined during the month, and on June 25 totaled only $102,313,000, and July 2 were $157,485,000, as against $175,560,000 on May 28. After each lowering of the buying rate by the New York Reserve Bank, the open market rate for acceptances followed by going to the same or still lower figures. This was the case when the buying rate was finally lowered to 2%. That happened on Friday, June 20, the day when the reduction in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 3% to 2½% became effective. On the following Tuesday (June 24) open market rates for acceptances were marked down another ⅛ of 1% on all maturities, with the effect of making the bid rate 2% for 30-, 60- and 90-day bills, and the asked rate 1⅞%. On July 1, the Federal Reserve buying rate was reduced to 1⅞% for bills of all dates, and the Reserve now secured a supply of bills, but except in the last instance the repeated lowering of the buying rate for acceptances accomplished nothing beyond demoralizing the acceptance market and driving rates for acceptances down to the lowest figures prevailing since the establishment of the Federal Reserve System.

The June financing of the United States Treasury did not have the disturbing effect on the money market that the March financing did, though rates for all classes of loans in June dropped even lower than the temporary low rates reached in March, but owing to other causes as enumerated above. One reason why the Treasury operations were a less important factor on the present occasion was that the certificate offering in June was not as large as that made in March. In June the Secretary of the Treasury offered $400,000,000, "or thereabouts," of certificates and took $429,373,000. In March he offered $450,000,000 and allotted $483,841,000. In other words, he sold $54,468,000 less on the latest occasion. It is the practice of the Treasury Department to leave the proceeds of these certificate sales as Government deposits for the time being with the banks for whom or through whom the subscriptions are made. Consequently, the result of any such sale is to give the banks a sudden huge accession of Government deposits against which no cash reserves need be kept and which, accordingly, can at once be loaned out. If the proceeds of the sales represent private deposits already held by the banks, the change to Government deposits is no less sudden and striking, for against the private deposits it was necessary to maintain the customary cash reserves whereas as against Government deposits no cash reserves whatever are required, as already stated. The effect, hence, is to reduce correspondingly the reserve required to be maintained in the Federal Reserve Banks of the respective Reserve districts. With certificate offerings during the month of June $54,468.000 less than the previous March, the advantage to be derived in that way from the sudden increase of Government deposits was correspondingly lessened. Last March Government deposits held by the reporting member banks in New York City increased $99,000,000 in the week of the certificate sale, that being the amount of Government deposits shown in the statement for Mar. 19, and this comparing with no Government deposits whatever held by these reporting member banks in New York City on Mar. 12. On the other hand, during the week of the certificate sale in June the accession of new Government deposits was only $64,000,000, the amount of the deposits for June 18 being given as $71,000,000 against $7,000,000 on June 11. This $7,000,000, by the way, was the remnant of Government deposits left over from the March certificate sale, the last call for the Government deposits derived from that sale not having come until after the June sale, namely, on June 27. The figures given relate, as stated, to the reporting member banks in this city, where the influence on the money market would be most immediate and direct. If we take all the member banks in all the cities throughout the country from which the Reserve authorities get weekly reports of condition, the increase last March between Mar. 12 and Mar. 19 was $280,000,000, whereas during the current month of June the increase between June 11 and June 18 in the aggregate of the deposits of the reporting member banks in the entire country was $193,000,000, the total of these Government deposits June 18 being $213,000,000 against only $20,000,000 on June 11. Thus the part played by these Government deposits in the money market in June was by no means small, though it did not reach the extremes experienced in March. Temporary borrowing by the United States Government on certificates of indebtedness was apparently also very much smaller in June than in March, and that also was claimed as having contributed very greatly to the demoralization of the money market in March. On that point, however, the weekly Federal Reserve figures during June have offered no information whatever. That the United States Government was in much easier condition as regards ready cash at the time of the certificate sale in June than at the time of the March sale appears from the fact that on Mar. 12 the reporting member banks throughout the country showed no Government deposits whatever (the increase to $280,000,000 on Mar. 19, to which reference has been made, representing entirely fresh Government deposits), whereas on June 11, just before the June sale of certificates, $20,000,000 of Govvernment deposits were still standing to the credit of the Government with the reporting member banks throughout the country.

One effect of the decline in money rates was seen in the action of the New York Clearing House Association in reducing the rates of interest which the banks pay on their deposits. Action was taken June 23, and new rates became effective Thursday, June 26. On demand deposits the rate was cut from 2% to 1½%, while on time deposits a reduction of a full 1% was made, the rate being lowered from 3% per annum to 2%. This reduction followed another reduction made by the New York Clearing House Association only about three months before—that is, in March, when rates on demand deposits were cut from 2½% to 2%, and rates on time deposits from 3½% to 3%.

Dealing in detail with the course of call loans on the Stock Exchange, rates remained unchanged at 3% on each and every day in the month until June 12, when, after renewals had again been effected at 3%, the rate for new loans fell to 2½%. On Friday, June 13, and again on Monday, June 16, all loans were at 2½%. On Tuesday, June 17, after renewals had again been effected at 2½%, there was an advance to 3% in the rate for new loans. The next day, however, all loans were again at 2½%, and this rate continued without change for all demand loans on the Stock Exchange until June 24, when, after renewals had again been negotiated at 2½%, there was a drop in the rate for new loans to 2%. On June 25 all loans, including renewals, were at 2%; on Thursday, June 26, after the renewal rate had continued at 2%, some new loans were placed at 1½%, the lowest figure reached since Aug. 1 1917. On Friday, June 27, there was a return to the 2% figure, all loans on that day being at that rate, including renewals. On the following Monday, June 30, after renewals had been effected at 2%, there was an advance to 2½%, and then to 3% in the rate charged for new loans. This was due to the calling of loans to an aggregate of $100,000,000 or over in preparation for the very heavy July 1 payments. Rates for time loans also moved steadily towards low figures. The time loan market, however, at no time displayed any great activity. As against 3% at the end of May, the rate for 30-day loans in June was 2¾@3% until the 18th, after which there were no quotations for loans for such a short period. For 60-day loans the quotations dropped from 3@3¼% to 2½@2¾%. Money for 90 days, as against 3¼@3½ at the end of May, dropped to 2½@2¾% at the end of June. Loans running four months were down to 2¾% at the end of June against 3¼@3½% at the end of May; for five months also loans were down to 2¾% against 3½@3¾% at the end of May, while for loans running six months the rate was 3% at the end of June against 3½@3¾% at the end of May. Commercial paper continued in good demand all through the month, activity being restricted only by the difficulty of obtaining a sufficient supply of paper to meet the requirements. As against 3½% the quotation for extra choice names of four to six months maturities at the beginning of June and 3½@4% for names less well known and for the shorter choice names, rates at the end of June were 3¼@3½% for choice names, with maturities of four to six months, and 3½@3¾% for names less well known and the shorter choice names. The "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, dated July 1, makes the following comment upon the course of the paper market and the supply of commercial paper:

"Reflecting the inability of dealers to secure new paper, due partly to a seasonal tendency toward reduced borrowing at this time of the year, the amount of commercial paper outstanding at the end of May was smaller by $12,000,000, or 2%, than at the end of April. The total of $541,000,000 reported by 21 firms remained 78% above the figure for the comparable month a year ago, however, and, excepting April, was larger than at any time since April 1928."

Another indication of the growing ease in money is furnished by the steady decline in the rates charged by the banks to customers on their commercial loans. The New York Federal Reserve Bank, as previously explained, undertakes to show the average rate charged by leading banks to their customers at the middle of each month. For June this works out 4.21%, which compares with 4.39% for May, 4.59% for April, 4.93% for March, 5.09% for February, 5.41% for January, and 6.07% back last September and October.

The course of rates for bankers' acceptances constituted the most striking and most significant feature of the entire money market. Here the decline in rates was precipitate and in the general downward movement which marked all branches of the money market, the bill market may be said to have led the way and to have fixed the pace. Starting with quotations already low, four successive reductions of ⅛% each were made, a total of ½ of 1%, to the lowest figures reached since the establishment of the Federal Reserve System. Reference has already been made, in the general discussion of the money market further above, to the part played by the Federal Reserve Banks in their competition for bills, how the Reserve Banks kept reducing their buying rate for acceptances in the effort to acquire new lines of acceptances, to replace the bills maturing from day to day, and how ineffective apparently these moves proved, rates in the open market falling almost immediately to the new level of the buying rate and even below that rate. It remains here, therefore, merely to place on record the different changes in rates and their dates. Open market rates for acceptances were reduced ⅛ of 1% on all maturities on Wednesday, June 4, after the Federal Reserve Bank had reduced its buying rate for acceptances ⅛%, and reduced another ⅛% on Thursday, June 5, after the Reserve Bank had made another cut of ⅛% in its buying rate. On Thursday, June 19, open market rates slipped back another ⅛% on all maturities. The Federal Reserve Bank had been competing for bills with dealers and the acceptance houses, and on Tuesday, June 17, had reduced its buying rate for acceptances to 2⅛% for bills running one to 45 days, to 2¼% for bills running 46 to 120 days, and to 2¾% for maturities of four to six months. Previous rates had been 2¼% for bills of one to 90 days, 2⅜% for maturities of 91 to 120 days, and 2¾% for bills running 121 to 180 days. The reduction of ⅛ of 1% in open market rates for acceptances followed these changes in the buying rate of the Federal Reserve Banks. On Friday, June 20, after the Federal Reserve Bank of New York had cut its rediscount rate from 3% to 2½%, buying rates for acceptances were further lowered to 2% for one to 90 days, 2⅛% for 91 to 120 days, and 2⅜% for 121 to 180 days. On Tuesday, June 24, open market rates for acceptances were marked down another ⅛% for all maturities, bringing them down to 2% bid and 1⅞% asked for 30, 60 and 90 days, or lower than ever before since the establishment of the Federal Reserve System, except (so says the "Monthly Review" of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York) "for a quotation of 1⅞% on 30-day bills intermittently prevailing during the period from July to September 1924"; to 2⅛% bid and 2% asked for 120 days, and 2¼% bid and 2⅛% asked for 150 days and 180 days. There appeared to be an excellent demand for bills all through the month, activity being diminished at times merely by reason of the shortage of offerings. The acceptance holdings of the 12 Reserve Banks, after increasing from $175,560,000 May 28 to $189,240,000 June 4, heavily diminished thereafter and were down to $102,313,000 June 25, with the amount July 1 $157,485,000. The total of the bills held by the Reserve Banks for their foreign correspondents moved irregularly up and down, but July 2 was $481,269,000 against $461,853,000 May 28. The American Acceptance Council, in its statement issued June 16, reported only a relatively small further reduction in the volume of acceptances outstanding during the month of May, the amount May 31 being given as $1,382,206,855 as compared with $1,413,717,278 on April 30. This further reduction during May still left the total $275,038,003 higher than on the corresponding date the previous year.

As to the changes in the rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Banks, the action of the New York Federal Reserve Bank on June 19 in reducing its rate from 3% to 2½%, effective June 20, has already been referred to. There were several other reductions during the month by other Reserve institutions, but none to the rate fixed by the New York Reserve institution. On June 6 the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland lowered its rediscount rate from 4% to 3½%, effective June 7. On June 20 the Chicago Federal Reserve Bank reduced from 4% to 3½%, effective June 21. The Boston Reserve Bank had the previous month reduced to 3½%, making three Reserve institutions quoting the 3½% rate, the New York Reserve Bank charging 2½%, and the remaining eight Reserve Banks still quoting the 4% rate.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS—BROKERS LOANS.

Brokers' loans were heavily reduced during June as a result of the tremendous liquidation on the Stock Exchange. There had been some reduction during May, the reporting member banks in New York City showing the amount of such loans $4,022,000,000 May 28, against $4,274,000,000 April 30; on June 4 there was an increase again from $4,022,000,000 to $4,101,000,000, but after that there were successive heavy reductions, to $3,998,000,000 June 11, to $3,787,000,000 June 18 to $3,416,000,000 June 25, and finally to only $3,219,000,000 July 2. This brought the total lower even than at the beginning of the year, the amount Jan. 8 having been $3,352,000,000. The shrinkage was entirely in the loans by outside lenders. Comparing June 2 with May 28, the loans made for own account by the reporting member banks in New York City were $1,710,000,000 at the later date given against $1,777,000,000 at the earlier date, while the loans for the out-of-town banks were only $654,000,000 against $988,000,000, and the loans "for account of others" $856,000,000 against $1,257,000,000. The monthly statement issued by the New York Stock Exchange tells the story of diminished borrowing on brokerage account, even more strongly. This Stock Exchange statement, which is for the even month and deals with larger totals because wider in its scope, shows $1,020,120,623 reduction during June, as already indicated in the earlier portion of this article, in addition to a reduction of $315,299,447 in May, making the contraction for the two months combined $1,335,420 070.

In the returns for the Federal Reserve Banks themselves the main features were the diminution in the holdings of bankers' acceptances, notwithstanding the unremitting endeavor of the Reserve authorities to acquire new supplies of bills by repeatedly lowering their buying rate for acceptances, as discussed further above, in our general comment, and the increase in the holdings of United States Government securities. The acceptance holdings of the 12 Reserve institutions, after increasing from $175,560,000 May 28 to $189,240,000 June 4, steadily fell off thereafter, and were down to $102,313,000 June 25, but with the amount July 2 $157,485,000. Member bank borrowing, as indicated by the discount holdings, varied more or less from week to week, without, however, showing any great change for the month as a whole, the amount July 2 at $260,413,000 comparing with $247,046,000 May 28. The holdings of United States Government securities increased from $529,770,000 May 28 to $597,648,000 June 18, and then fell to $576,970,000 June 25, with the amount July 2 $595,953,000. The principal change in the different classes of these Government securities was the increase in the holdings of certificates and bills. These increased from $244,868,000 May 28 to $301,623,000 June 25, with the amount July 1 $311,903,000. Presumably this means that the Reserve Banks took over a goodly amount of the new certificates of indebtedness. The net result of the changes under these different headings was that total bill and security holdings as against $958,776,000 May 28, stood at $916,038,000 June 25, but with the amount July 2 $1,021,152,000. The total Federal Reserve notes in circulation was $1,432,252,000 July 2, against $1,465,867,000 May 28, while gold reserves stood at $2,993,409,000 July 2 against $3,057,310,000 May 28.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING JUNE.

The most important event bearing on the fluctuations in foreign exchange during June was doubtless the action of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in announcing on June 19 a reduction from 3% to 2½% in its rediscount rate, effective June 20. This left a difference of ½ of 1% in favor of London, the Bank of England continuing its rate unaltered at 3%. The difference in favor of London was additionally increased when the New York Reserve institution at the same time still further lowered its buying rate for acceptances to 2%. At all events the course of sterling exchange on London, which up to that time had been irregular and often inclined to weakness, developed growing strength thereafter. Cable transfers on London, which June 1 sold at a range of 4.85 23/32@4.85 13/16, were 4.85¾@4.85 15/16 June 19, but after that rates steadily advanced, and June 28 the range was 4.86 3/32@4.86 5/32, and the range June 30 4.86@4.86 1/16. There were some further lowering of discount rates by central banks in Europe, but the only major change was that of the Bank of Germany, which on June 20 announced a reduction in its discount rate from 4½% to 4%, the change becoming effective on June 21. The 4½% rate had prevailed since May 19. Somewhat earlier in the month, that is, on June 13, the Bank of Poland, which since Mar. 14 had been maintaining a discount rate of 7%, reduced to 6½%. On June 2 the Bank of Portugal, which since July 27 1926 had been charging 8%, reduced to 7½%. On June 24 the Bank of Danzig reduced from 5% to 4½%, and on June 25 the National Bank of Czechoslovakia reduced from 4½% to 4%. Otherwise there were no changes during the month in the rediscount rates of any of the central banks of Europe. On June 3 cable transfers had sold down to $4.85 21/32, the lowest level since the latter part of the previous September. The Bank of England in its statement for the week ended June 4 reported a loss of no less than £1,237,614 in gold, but in succeeding weeks showed small amounts of gain, the gain for the week ending June 11 being £301,322, for the week ending June 18 £309,120, and for the week ending June 25 £283,763, with £545,282 decrease in the week ending July 2. As in preceding months, sterling was especially weak, with respect to French francs and German marks. On June 11 the Bank of England gave notice that it would cease to offer gold bars of .995 fineness and would sell only bars of .91667 fineness, which is the standard of the sovereign. The Bank of France, since French stabilization, has been buying metal exclusively above .990 fine. The effect of this change was to compel French importers to pay the expense of refining up to the French standard, and this, it was estimated, would lower the Paris-London gold point to probably around 123.65 francs to the pound. Paris cablegrams stated that the purchase of sovereigns for French account in London on June 11 was undertaken for that purpose with the refining done in London. The weekly circular of Samuel Montagu & Co. of London, written under date of June 11, had the following to say on this matter:

"An interesting position has arisen in the London gold market owing to the fact that the Bank of England is now giving out bars of standard fineness (about 9166-10000) instead of fine bars (ranging from 9950-10000 upwards) which buyers had been accustomed to receive from that institution. Under the Gold Standard Act of 1925 the Bank of England is entitled to sell bars of any fineness provided not lower than the standard of sovereigns (9167-10000). For many months past the Bank's stock of fine gold bars has been heavily depleted by withdrawals for the Continent, whilst the bulk of its receipts has been in the form of sovereigns. It is therefore only natural that the Bank should decide to exercise its legal right of selling bar gold of standard fineness only."

The New York Federal Reserve Bank, in its "Monthly Review," said that withdrawals of gold from the Bank of England included £800,000 for export to Germany, and £300,000 for France, but these losses were partially offset by the receipt of £500,000 in sovereigns from South Africa. Of the £2,000,000 of South African gold offered in the London market in June, France obtained £1,300,000 and Germany £500,000, the balance going to India and the trades.

As to the gold movement at New York, the New York Federal Reserve Bank said: "The release of $2,000,000 of gold ear-marked for foreign account was the only sizable gold transaction at New York during June, as exports and imports were negligible. At San Francisco, however, arrivals of gold from the Far East continued, $7,000,000 coming from Japan and $450,000 from China. The total received from Japan in the movement which began last January now amounts to $114,000,000. A preliminary estimate of $10,000,000 as the net gain to the country's gold stock in June indicates a considerable decline from the gains of recent months. Based on this preliminary figure for June, the first half of 1930 shows a net gain of $237,000,000 in the gold stock as compared with $174,000,000 in the first six months of 1929."

Canadian exchange developed firmness, and from having sold at a discount for a long time previously, rose to par, and finally advanced to a premium, though at the close of the month it fell back to a discount again. The primary cause of the improvement in Canadian exchange appeared to be that with the opening of navigation the export movement of Canadian wheat again got under way on a considerable scale, and also that owing to the great ease in money at this center the New York market is no longer attractive to funds from across the border.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

In exchange on the Continental centers of Europe the feature was the floating of German Government international loan which met with apparently unqualified success everywhere except at Amsterdam. The fluctuations in French exchange were unimportant except that they indicated a steady upward trend, sales of cable transfers on Paris being made on June 30 at 3.92¾@3.92 27/32 against 3.92@3.92 1/16 on Monday, June 2. The continued taking of gold at London for French account has already been referred to in our discussions regarding sterling exchange. These new imports of gold into France were reflected in further additions to the gold holdings of the Bank of France. The French Bank showed 8,693,224 francs increase in gold in the week ending June 7; 82,425,873 francs increase in the week ending June 14; 104,904,806 francs increase in the week ending June 21, and 47,000,000 francs in the week ending June 28. German marks were heavy throughout, and cable transfers on Berlin June 30 were 23.83½ against 23.86@23.86¼ June 2. These rates were the lowest reached since the previous September. The ease in marks was ascribed to the reduction in the discount rate of the Bank of Germany and the probability of a further reduction in the early future. Open money market rates in Berlin were at the lowest level since before the war, and rediscounting at the Bank of Germany dropped below the smallest post-war total. The position of the Bank of Germany was regarded as unusually strong, and the Bank was able further to enlarge its gold holdings, the increase the first week of the month having been 27,646,000 marks; the second week, 6,000 marks; the third week, 134,000 marks, with 47,000 marks decrease the final week of the month. Note circulation of the bank showed a reduction of 239,725,000 marks the first week; 293,936,000 marks the second week, and 204,826,000 marks the third week, with 647,454,000 marks increase in the final week. Italian exchange was without special feature and with fluctuations confined to a narrow range. The lire on cable transfers was quoted at 5.23⅞ June 30, against 5.23⅞@5.23 15/16 June 2.

Exchange on the countries of the European continent which remained neutral during the war seemed to follow closely the upward trend of exchange on London, with the exception that the Dutch guilder displayed weakness on occasions. Cable transfers on Amsterdam the early part of the month frequently commanded 40.21½, but on June 21 sold at 40.18, with a recovery to 40.19⅜@40.19¾ on June 30. The transfer of funds from the Amsterdam market, where money is exceptionally plentiful and cheap, to loans and securities in other markets was given as the main reason for the occasional weakness of guilder exchange. Exchange on Switzerland continued to manifest special strength as a result of transfers for the account of the Bank for International Settlements. Cable transfers on Switzerland were 19.38@19.38¼ June 30 against 19.34½@19.34¾ June 2. The Scandinavian exchanges also all showed a rising tendency, and the Danish crown on cable transfers was 26.76@26.76½ June 30 against 26.74½@26.75 June 2; the Swedish crown 26.86@26.86½ June 30 against 26.82@26.83 June 2, and the Norwegian crown for cable transfers 26.77½@26.78 June 30 against 26.75½ June 2. The Spanish peseta continued its downward plunge, and cable transfers on Madrid were 10.86@11.20 June 30 against 12.09½@12.16 June 2. Political uncertainties were largely responsible for this, the same as in the immediate past, but the decline was also due to the accumulation of payments for imports which have increased while exports have been reduced.

Exchange on South America was marked by further sharp declines in the Argentina paper pesos and the Brazilian milreis, both of which slid down to new low levels. The peso on cable transfers was quoted at only 35.50@35.76 June 30 against 37.96@38⅛ June 2. The Brazilian milreis, as against 11.81 at the beginning of the month, sold down to 11.20 June 20, with the range June 30 11.35@11.38. The trade position of Argentina has of course been weakened by the diminution in wheat exports and the low prices ruling for the same in the markets of the world. The inability or refusal of the Argentine authorities to make further exports of gold is also a weakening factor. The Brazilian milreis has been depressed owing to uncertainty regarding the future of coffee under the new regime to be inaugurated after July 1, when there will be a new dispensation under the terms of the coffee realization loan for $35,000,000 floated in the United States, for the State of San Paulo at the close of April. The Uruguayan peso also suffered a sharp break, the rate for checks dropping from 92.00 early in the month to 86¼@86.47 June 30. A Montevideo cablegram, June 24, stated that part of the public works loan recently floated in New York would probably be used temporarily to support exchange.

Exchange on the Far East, except in the case of the Japanese yen, which remained firm at virtually unchanged figures, was weak and demoralized, mainly as a result of the further depreciation in the value of silver, but also because of the renewed internal warfare in China and the political troubles in India. Silver in London touched 15 7/16d. per ounce on June 24, a new low level from which there was a recovery to 15¾ on June 30. With the upward reaction in silver there was also some slight improvement in exchange on the silver using countries. The dollar on Hong Kong for checks, after falling from 32 15/16 June 2 to 30⅞ June 21, was quoted at 31¼@31 7/16 June 30. The tael on Shanghai, after falling from 40⅝ June 2 to 36 1/16 June 24, was quoted at 37 1/16@37⅛ June 30. The rupee on Bombay was unaffected, either by the depreciation of silver or the internal troubles in India, as is evident from the fact that the quotation June 30 for checks on Bombay was 36⅛@36¼, against 36.05@36 3/16 June 2.

The tables on pages 13 to 35 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during June and the range since Jan. 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

General Quotations

OF BONDS AND STOCKS

In the earlier part of this publication complete records of the dealings on the leading stock exchanges of the country, for the latest month and for the calendar year to date, are furnished. In this department of General Quotations we combine in one comprehensive whole, securities of all classes and descriptions, not only those dealt in on the exchanges but also leading unlisted and inactive securities. The following is an index to the different classes of securities quoted:

	Page		Page		Page
Steam Railroad Bonds	78	Public Utility Bonds	85	Insurance Stocks and Scrip	96
Steam Railroad Stocks	82	Public Utility Stocks	90	Real Estate Trust and Land Stocks	97
Joint Stock Land Bank Bonds	84	Industrial & Miscellaneous Bonds	93	Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Stocks	97
Joint Stock Land Bank Stocks	84	Industrial & Miscellaneous Stocks	97	United States and Municipal Bonds	101
Federal Land Bank Bonds	101	Exchange Seats	95	Canadian Municipal Bonds	103
Real Estate Bonds	95	Textile Manufacturing Stocks	96	Foreign Government Bonds	102
Investment Trust Stocks and Bonds	83	Mining Stocks	96

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.; "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actua prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity—the shorter maturities yielding the lowest rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return. Recently however, owing to the tension in the money market, it has happened in not a few instances that the shorter maturities have been yielding the highest rate of return and the longer maturities the lowest rate of return, and where that happens to be the case, the range has been reversed to read, say 4.35% to 4.25%

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest-weekly statement.
